Allen Tells of Old CIA Probe

Robert S. Allen declared over the Mutual network last night:

"While Congress, aroused over the Bogota fiasco, is investigating the Central Intelligence Agency, the following can now be revealed about this outfit:

"Two months ago Secretary of State Marshall personally complained to President Truman about Admiral Hillenkoetter, head of the CIA. Marshall expressed dissatisfaction with Hillenkoetter's work and inferentially suggested that he be replaced with a more competent man.

"However, Hillenkoetter comes from Missouri and President Truman did nothing about Marshall's complaint. But the National Security Council did do something. The Council set up a three-man committee to investigate the CIA. The chairman of this committee is Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, New York attorney and Gov. Dewey's adviser on foreign affairs. The report of this committee has never been published."

Allen suggested to Rep. Clarence Brown (R., O.) chairman of the committee investigating the CIA:

"Why don't you demand the report of the Dulles committee and find out what it has to say about Adm. Hillenkoetter and the CIA? The report may prove very illuminating."
